

WHERE FANTASY MEETS FRACTURES AND WE CALL IT JOURNALISM

MAZEHORNS CHARGE OUT OF THE GATE – WITH BLOOD ON THEIR HOOVES

It took exactly one block—yes, one—for Rathgore Tinfist of the Mazehorns to earn a permanent place in league lore. The unfortunate victim? A poor Trollslayer whose hopes, dreams, and several ribs were shattered on Turn 1 of the inaugural match. Asked for comment, Rathgore simply said: “Didn’t like the beard.”

DA HOODOO HULKS: CHAOS ENGINE OR PERFECTLY CALCULATED?

Defying reason, odds, physics, and coaching fundamentals, Da Hoodoo Hulks have pulled off two last-turn touchdowns in back-to-back games. Between the boots, the throws, and what appears to be black-market anti-concussion moss, these little green lunatics won’t stop until they’ve scored... or shattered ankles trying.

BREWTALITY SQUAD TURNS THE TAP ON HAGPIES

In a long-awaited revenge match, Brewtality Squad channeled their inner barfight, reminding the Hagpies that the best offense is getting punched in the mouth. A spectacular turnover drive saw their first touchdown of the season—possibly by accident, possibly divine intervention. We’ll never know.

GRISTLEGRAB’S TRENCH-STYLE CATERING

“YOU BRING THE MEAT, WE’LL BRING THE MYSTERY.”
POST-MATCH DISCOUNTS AVAILABLE. MOSTLY EDIBLE.

SEASON KICKS OFF!

Welcome back, you glorious maniacs of mayhem!

The pitches are painted, the ref’s already unconscious, and the blood is flowing faster than an ogre’s pregame stew. Yes indeed, Blood Bowl is back—and so is your (mostly) reliable source for the carnage: The Stonehammer Scribe.

This inaugural issue kicks off the carnage chronicling, injury tallying, and wildly speculative team ranking you’ve come to tolerate! All under the brawl-stained banner of this season’s grand theme: Faction Wars.

So buckle those pads, sharpen your horns, and hide your squishiest linemen—the path to the title begins now, and Skrat Sootquill will be there scribbling every glorious disaster along the way.

AROUND THE LEAGUE

“Foul!?! bah, tha was a fine hit, not my fault if the bloody whelp is playing Bloodbowl while lying on his back!” - Thorin Normalshield on his questionable hit during the game against the Hagpies.

“We just gotta play our game, we got caught playing their game.” - Da Krumpin’ Krew’s coach following their 3-2 defeat to Da Hoodoo Hulks

ENTIRELY TOO EARLY
POWER RANKINGS

Tier I - The Juggernauts

Da Hoodoo Hulks (1-1-0)
Underdog gobbos? No longer. With last-turn touchdowns now practically a tradition, these stunties blend chaos, cunning, and carrier-based flight paths into a terrifyingly effective package. Prediction: will throw teammates into endzones and the fan’s hearts.

The Mazehorns (1-0-0)
When your first block of the season results in a casualty and an existential crisis for the opposing coach, you earn your top-tier spot. The Mazehorns don’t just control the pitch—they make it a labyrinth. Prediction: Will either win the league or summon something unspeakable from beneath the pitch. Maybe both.

Tier II - The Climbers

Brewtality Squad (0-1-1)
Former bruisers turned opportunists. They’ve remembered how to punch and pivot, making them a rising star with a barrel full of potential. Prediction: will stagger into the playoffs fueled by spite, splinters, and suspiciously high BACs

The Hagpies (0-2-0)
Crafty but currently clipped--their signature chaos has turned into inconsistency, and with two key players out next match, they’re looking shaky. Momentum’s stalled, but one well-timed scramble could put them right back in the hunt. Prediction: fumble into glory...or into the turf.

Tier III- The Rebuilders

Da Krumpin Krew (0-0-1)
Effort? There. Execution? ...Well. The Krew have heart, but so far that heart’s been stepped on, fouled, and thrown into the stands. Prediction: glorious comeback incoming, or at least a spectacularly loud loss.

Tier IV- The Watchlist

The Suck Squad (0-0-0)
Are they noble predators or unreliable liabilities with fangs? No one knows. We’re just hoping for at least three failed Bloodlust rolls and a thrall-sized crater. Prediction: A beautiful disaster, with dashing capes.

Amazons (0-0-0)
Mystique, movement, and mayhem—if they hit the pitch with chemistry, look out. If not, they’ll still look better than most teams in the league. Prediction: Will dodge the hit... then mock you for missing